The image displays a handwriting practice sheet with five rows and six columns. Each cell in the grid contains a set of three horizontal lines: a solid top line, a dashed middle line, and a solid bottom line. A vertical line is drawn in the center of each set, consisting of a solid top segment, a dashed middle segment, and a solid bottom segment. All segments of the vertical line are filled with a series of small, evenly spaced dots, designed for tracing practice.
